Auzu Billahi Minashshaytanir Rajim. Bismillahir Rahmanir Rahim.

وَإِنْ تَعُدُّوا نِعْمَةَ اللَّهِ لَا تُحْصُوهَا

“Wa in ta'uddu ni'matullahi la tuhsuha.” (Sura Nahl:18)

“If you attempt to count Allah's blessings, you cannot count them.” They are that many. These are blessings Allah gives you every day and every moment. If we are thankful for our whole lives for those blessings, we could not finish them.

People complain by themselves, and spend their life in sorrow and worry. Even though Allah's blessings, the blessings He gives, are enough for everybody and more. Even a single breath, when a person breathes right, is a great blessing. Some people cannot breathe fully when they breathe in and out. That time they understand and know the importance of this blessing.

When a person is in possession of something, they think it is normal. No, everything is a blessing of Allah. If Allah wants, some things may inflict and harm a person out of nowhere. If a person cannot find that blessing, they would be missing a great thing, and no other troubles would remain. They would run after it trying and saying, “Let me get better, and let me complete that.” Let us be thankful to Allah's blessings, let us glorify Him, and let us not complain Inshallah.

Wa Minallah at-Tawfeeq.
Al-Fatiha.
